SOPHOMORES

Larry Sigler is a highly respected principal at Marcus High School and has been for the past four years. "I hope to retire here at Marcus because I love what I am doing" quotes Sigler. Sigler takes great pride in Marcus. Seeing the student body grow in spirit and in academics gives him a great feeling of accomplishment.

Sigler's job ranges anywhere from maintenance to setting up the master schedule of the school. There is a wide variety of responsibilities for him. Coming in contact with so many people is one of his special pleasures in the job. "It never gets dull," he said.

Sigler has lived in Lewisville all of his life. He had 40 students in his graduating class of 1959. He lettered three years in football and basketball; four years in track and baseball. Sigler was halfback his sophomore and junior years, and a quarterback his senior year.

Sigler's first teaching job was as a math instructor in Dallas. He entered the LISD as a math teacher at Lewisville Middle School, fourteen years ago. His next job was assistant principal in the morning at Delay Middle School and in the afternoon at Hedrick Middle School.

The next year Sigler remained as assistant principal at Hedrick Middle School until he was promoted to principal during the middle of the year.

When Sigler is not in school you might find him fishing at Lake Lewisville or Lake Texoma. Sigler also enjoys traveling or visiting old historical marks, especially old battlefields.

The student body and staff truly appreciate all the hard work, effort, dedication and support that Mr. Sigler has shown.

SPIRIT ALIVE AT MHS

From the day they opened the doors at Marcus, you could tell that it was going to be a school of great uniqueness. There were a lot of delays on opening the first phase of Marcus which cost $10 million dollars, and the fact that for the first three weeks of school the students were there only until noon because there was no air conditioning, didn't help. But the students and the staff persevered and became a family in a sense. When the football team would slaughter an opposing team, it was a victory for the entire school. That spirit has passed down, and now that we are a two-year school and looking to being a four-year school, our trophy cases are becoming lined with awards from Math Club to swimming team.

The final phase of Marcus will end in 1988 with the completion of the building project, but the spirit here will live forever.

HOMEWORK BOGGLES MINDS

No time for T.V., no time for a party, no time for a date, no time for a movie. Eight hours sleep? You just don't dare!

This thing is mind-boggling, time-consuming. My eyes are red, my nails are chewed away. I stagger from lack of sleep. I wouldn't be surprised if my hair turns gray. The pressure is so great, sometimes I think the top of my head will explode and blow away!

Now this doesn't please her. "Now this isn't right. This isn't done well enough, you must do this again," "This should have been done yesterday." Cram for a test — we had a test yesterday and we will have another one tomorrow, "This is too messy, and you are so slow! Oh my, there are so many things you don't know." Now keep your head down; don't ever come up for air. Work, work, work. Sometimes I think this is so unfair!

And yet, I know we have to brave the storm, and take all of the scorn, if we are to come through with a good education.

TYPING DEVELOPS COORDINATION

The typing course is elected mainly by students who want to improve their speed and accuracy in typing, and seek a career using these skills, or plan to attend college and know that typing makes college work easier.

The typing department is made up of several divisions: Typing I and II; Data Processing, Record Keeping, and Personal Business. In order to be successful in these classes, a person must be able to use proper English grammar and to spell accurately. The most important factor in learning to type is being able to listen and follow directions.

The typing classes do not go on field trips but they do go to contests in the spring to show off their typing skills.

The objectives of taking typing are several, and help develop coordination. This can be a very rewarding and enriching course as it is used throughout a lifetime.

HEALTH PREPARES ONE FOR LIFE

Health is a course offered at Marcus that deals with human beings; how they function, and what ills befall them. It is a one semester course that is required for graduation. Though this is a short class, there is a great deal of information to be learned that will be important for the remainder of one's life.

During this course, proper care of the body is stressed. It also concerns the development of a healthy body as well as a healthy attitude toward habits such as tobacco, alcohol, and narcotics.

Prevention and control of communicable diseases and first aid are also covered in this course.

HARD WORK AND DEDICATION PASS IN WORLD HISTORY

World History is a required course at Marcus High School. Some of the qualities of a successful student are hard work and dedication. If the student tries his best he can achieve an excellent grade. One of the greatet strengths of any department is the teacher. If a teacher can communicate with the students then everyone benefits. Students must take notes in this class to be successful and will master the subject with study and determination.

The world history students will attend a history competition at North Texas State in the spring. Next summer, Ms. Killian will be taking several students to Europe for 16 days. These students will be touring France, England, Switzerland and other countries.

MATH PROVIDES SUCCESSFUL BACKGROUND

Math at Marcus is required at both freshman and sophomore levels. There is a variety of courses offered. Fundamentals of Math I and II provides a successful mathematical experience in the basic skills of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division.

Fundamentals of Mathematics III and IV is a continuation of basic skills and is related to daily living.

Introduction to Algebra is an informal approach to algebra. It introduces basic concepts of sets, positive and negative numbers, equations and graphics. Introduction to Algebra III and IV is a continuation of I and II and includes the development of basic skills in factoring algebraic equations and computations with algebraic fractions.

Algebra I and II is a study of real numbers, equations, graphing, polynomial and quadratic equations.

Geometry I and II develops the concepts of inductive and deductive reasoning and formal proofs as an approach to mathematics.

Algebra II and IV includes all concepts taught in I and II and introduces conic sections, logarithms, and sequences. Algebra Honors III and IV are basically the same but move at a faster rate than regular algebra.

There are two math clubs: TABS and UIW. Both clubs have money-raising events, and compete in competition regionally.

DRAFTING RELATES EVERYTHING TO LIFE

Drafting is a form of graphic communication and is one of the oldest forms of communication. Drafting goes a long way back. Everything is related to it in one way or another. Marcus High School offers various forms of drafting, some of which are cartography, or map drawing, architectural drafting, electrical drafting, and general drafting which covers most aspects of drafting. Whichever type of drafting one is interested in, he/she must choose it as an elective.

Most students don't know anything about drafting when they enter the course. Mr. Sweat, teacher, says a willingness to learn and do work will help a student to succeed in this course. A student's first year in the course is set by formal standards, but in the second year course, such as architectural drafting, the student develops more of his/her own technique. Many feel it is a lot easier the second year because there are fewer guidelines to follow.

The drafting department travels to several companies to discover and better understand the latest techniques. On some trips they saw caste systems of drafting and robotics. They also visited a machine shop in November.

Mr. Sweat feels he learns as much from his students as his students from him. Mr. Daniels feels a good background in math, problem-solving skills, and self-confidence are all contributers to success in drafting. He feels drafting serves two purposes. First it serves almost any blue-collar worker and secondly it serves college-bound students.

CVAE GAINS RESPECT

CVAE is a department in the school that is totally different from a regular classroom. Students apply and fill out an application for one of two divisions: Office skills taught by Ms. Adtlin, or Food Service, taught by Ms. Adair. The students are screened and only those that meet the requirements for the course are admitted.

The students go to leadership conferences and competitions. At the competitions the students take the skills that they have learned and show them off singly or as a group.

Students who choose to drop out of school, if they have taken CVAE, find that the skills learned there help them to find a job. Many students, however, who might have dropped out of school, find that they are respected more because of CVAE and that school does play an important part in planning for their future; and so choose to graduate and look forward to even higher achievement.

TIME AND EFFORT REQUIRED BY FRENCH

Culture is one of the many different things that can be found in French class. Others are lerning to read and write and speak another language. This course s an elective, and for first year students, the prerequisite is an 80 average in English. Prerequisites for second year French are a successful completion of first ear and a desire to become more proficient.

One of the most important things about taking a foreign language is the teacher. If the teacher and students don't communicate, then the student and the rogram suffer. At Marcus, students are very fortunate to have a wonderful faculty to learn from. Another important factor in learning a foreign language is desire on the part of the student. One way to help keep students interested is the FOOD EXCHANGE and another is the National French Contest. Each year tudents take a national test which is sent in and evaluated and then the results are returned to the school. It is a thrill for those students who place high on he test. The group also enters competitions and the enthusiasm is apparent. The time and effort required in this course and the other events is a great challenge to those participating.

PE CONSIDERED REGULAR CLASS

Physical Education may not follow the same routine as history and English, but it is an important course that should not be taken lightly.

Three semesters of PE are required to graduate from high school. Freshmen take one semester of PE and one of health. Sophomores taking PE are required to have two full semesters.

Freshmen participating in PE take part in a fitness program that includes aerobics while sophomores practice team and individual sports. Team sports include volleyball and soccer. Individual sports include tennis, archery, and badminton.

In order for a student to do well in physical education, coordination, agility, speed, flexibility, strength, and balance are all necessary.

The physical education staff feels fortunate to have the good facilities that they have at Marcus. Good facilities, as well as good teachers, make for a variety in sports and activities.

Physical education is often thought of as a "blow-off" course. If there is one thing the PE teachers would like to express, it is that PE is a regular class. They have tests, written as well as skill, daily grades, and participation grades, just like any other class.

HOMEMAKING PUTS VALUABLE SKILLS TO USE

There are several different varieties of classes in the Homemaking department; Commercial foods which is a two period course, P.E.L.E. which stands for Pre-employment Lab Experiment, and Childcare. P.E.L.E. students come to school for half a day and then go to a job dealing in the food field, the students' boss is responsible for filling out a progressive report on his or her working conduct and such forth. All of these courses have to be elected and a lot of students really do not know what they are getting in to. As Miss Mitchell says, "It's not just cooking and cleaning, everyone at one time of another will live in home and have to put to use the valuable skills taught in the homemaking courses. Whether it be a tent in the woods or a mansion on Park Avenue." Some of the homemaking classes, depending on their behavior, are taken on field trips.

The F.H.A., which is the Future Homemakers of America, is a club sponsored by the homemaking department. They hold a monthly Open-Houses in which the students prepare and serve a meal to the guests, which usually consists of the parents of students. The Marcus chapter of the F.H.A. goes to contest once a year to compete against other chapters all over Texas.

In conclusion I would like to quote Miss Mitchell, "Everyone is a homemaker . . ."

JOURNALISM ASSEMBLES PUBLICATION

Journalism I, or the Newspaper staff, produces a monthly eight page paper for the student body. On holidays there are twelve pages produced for the newspaper. This paper is Marcus's own Silver Bulletin, which is sold for 25¢.

In this class students do various work to assemble the current publication, the newspaper, for which the class is responsible. Students must possess a desire to attain high goals, be responsible, hardworking, trustworthy, and efficient. Students frequently stay after school one day a week to work on the publication. When deadlines need to be met, they stay longer and work harder.

The skills involved in everyday work are writing, proof-reading, graphics, interviewing, and editing. There are certain skills that are important to any one student's success in this class. They include writing and their ability to communicate and share.

The groups participate in U.I.L., a sponsored competition in the spring. There are many skills gained from this course; among these are leadership, working with a group, and the ability to understand and succeed the media. The sponsor, Ms. Clark, is as dedicated as any student, and has experience in journalism on the professional scale. The paper staff feels that it serves on an informative level of communication between students and the community.

FRESHMAN CLASS EXHIBITS LEADERSHIP

I attend Marcus High School." At the beginning of the year these words held an older, more sophisticated meaning. On the first day of school, many freshman students wandered into the circular building asking questions such as, "Where in this twisted building is A-207?" or "How am I supposed to be on time when there is only seven minutes between classes?" Somehow all these unanswered questions finally had answers.

Since then we have learned the rules of high school. The class of '88 is led by three students who have shown great amounts of leadership ability. They are class president, Darren Leath; vice president, Rene Ridinger; and secretary, Renee Noss.

The class has years ahead of them that again will bring answers to questions. This is a class that has the ability to do well in many areas, academically and socially. Many look forward to their remaining year at Marcus where they will be known as the 'leaders.'

ENGLISH BRINGS MEANINGFUL EXPERIENCES

The English department at Marcus offers variety in their classes and is very interesting for most people. The English course is divided into two semesters: grammar and literature. Four classes are offered at each level. They include basics, regular, honors, and resource.

LISD requires four years of English for graduation. Most colleges also require four years for admission.

English teachers at Marcus, numbering seventeen, try very hard to achieve excellence in their classrooms. Each teacher applies his/her educational background and creativity to provide the right atmosphere for learning.

Many events occur in English classes that bring meaningful experiences to the student. English is the basis for most classes in school, therefore it greatly influences people throughout their academic career and in the field they wish to enter after graduation.

PERSONAL BUSINESS AIDS CAREER CHOICE

Personal Business is an elected course that is rewarding for all people. Some of the different things offered in this class are things like data processing, record keeping, typing, and learning to balance a checkbook. Some of the skills and/or qualities needed to succeed in this class are the desire to own a business, or to just know more about the business world.

In April each year, students give oral presentations telling about a career they would like to pursue. One of the greatest strengths in this class is the fact that typing is offered and helps the student prepare for the computer-oriented world in which we now live. Typing classes compete at UIL in the spring. Both boys and girls benefit from this course.

ANNUAL STAFF GOES A GRADE BEYOND

Magazine publishing, writing, design, art, annual composing, finance sales, and distribution are all aspects of working on the annual staff. Depending on which of the many fields of creating an annual a student is interested in, such qualities as creativity, self-motivation, and the willingness to be outgoing and helpful will guarantee success.

Ms. Clark, sponsor of the annual staff, truly enjoys working informally with teenagers in a common goal, and feels that preserving the history of a schools' year is important and helps to bring the staff closer together.

Yearbook competition is held each spring in Dallas and the staff participates in UIL. The only money-raising activity is annual sales which covers the publishing costs of the yearbooks. At the close of the school year outstanding students are awarded.

Being a member of the annual staff means taking journalism, and learning leadership and details and the importance of meeting deadlines. As Ms. Clark said, "It means going beyond a grade to get the job done."

The staff wishes to take this opportunity to say thank you to the administration, teachers, and students for their continued help in the publication of this book.

MARCUS LIBRARY LAUDED AS "MOST BEAUTIFUL IN TEXAS."

The Marcus High School Library, located in the center of the school, is one of the most beautiful school libraries i Texas.

The approximately 10,000 square foot hexagonal, two story media center is designed and equipped to accommodat 160 students at a time.

The solid oak paneling and furniture and bright orange touches give the library an inviting feeling of warmth.

The library currently houses 9000 hardback books, 4000 paperback books, 700 pieces of A.V. software and 300 pieces o A.V. hardware. The library subscribes to 80 magazines and five newspapers.

The librarians are Valerie Childress, who has an MLS from California State University and Sherry Clayton, who has BA from NTSU and a Learning Specialist Endorsement from TWU.

Debbie Morrison is the library aide. Two mother volunteers, Sue Hays and Jo Ann Hughes, complete the library staff.

NURSES' OFFICE OFFERS CARE TO STUDENTS

The nurses' office is a busy place, especially when the temperatures are variant as they were in January and February. Those who provide over 2,000 students with care and concern are Charlotte Rich, Rosalyn Hodges, and Susie Eatman.

The office keeps and maintains records on all students and informs them of needed immunizations. Services are available during all school hours for emergencies. Students who become ill during the school day may be released to go home through the concern of this office.

SCIENCE OFFERS VARIETY IN CLASSES

The science department has many areas in which a student can learn a great deal. There are several courses that may be taken in the department ranging from the simple to the complex, in both the physical sciences and life sciences. Many of the courses are not only good preparation for college courses, as well as for life, but three years are required of every student in order to be graduated from a Texas school.

The head of the science department is Ms. Swearingen, who has been teaching at Marcus since it was opened. There are many skilled and competent teachers in the department.

The most widely taken course in this field taken at Marcus is biology, which is a prerequisite for many other classes dealing with life science. Several classes go on field trips and there is extensive lab work. A number of our students enter projects in the annual science fair.

CAREER AREAS & COMMUNICATION EXAMINED

Marketing and Distribution Education pre-employment Lab is a preliminary course leading to the MDEI Co-op course open to juniors. This course at Marcus is open to sophomore students who are interested in career areas of sales, marketing and general distribution.

The course of study includes operation of cash registers, sales demonstrations, basic advertising layout, human relations, aspects of marketing, basic marketing principles, and communiction techniques of marketing.

The youth leadership organization of marketing and distribution ed. is Distributive Education clubs of America, better known as DECA. Club activities on the local level include parties/dances and annual employer appreciation banquet in the spring. Area, state, and national activities include competence based competitive events in areas of apparel and accessories, finance and credit, food marketing, general merchandising, general marketing and advertising. This year's national conference will be held in San Francisco. Marcus DECA members are able to participate in these competitive events.

WORLD GEOGRAPHY TEACHES STYLES AND CULTURES

World Geography is an elected class and those students who choose to take this class can learn many historical facts about peoples' life styles and culture, and facts which are different from the American way.

If a student is really interested in learning, he or she can learn many ways how past events influence today and the future. These students should cooperate with one another, also with the teachers who are dedicated to their school and students.

COUNSELORS PROVIDE UNDERSTANDING, CONCERN

The counselor's office is one of the busiest spots on campus. Students go there to learn about school curriculum, and scheduling their future classes to the best of their ability. The counselors work with parents in reference to their child's academic process. They also work with students on a personal level. The counselors administer standardized tests.

A counselor must always be a good listener and be knowledgeable in counseling methods. One must always be acquainted with "help" sources and, of course, it helps to be energetic.

The counselors gain the satisfaction in the realization that they have been helpful. There's a certain amount of satisfaction working on a level that allows personal interaction. The counselors feel they are appreciated by students and staff, and also the community.

The counselors are as follows: Bill Hagood, Joyce LaFond, Linda Baum, and Joyce Feilke. The counseling office aids are Marge Zimmerer, and Mary Ann Gasprin.

Not only are the counselors helpful, so are the two aids. These two ladies are extremely caring, helpful, and receptive.

Bill Hagood is quoted as saying, "We want all students and staff on our campus to feel that they can come into our office, be welcome, be comfortable, and feel that we are totally understanding and concerned with whatever matter they bring to our attention."

WAS IST DEUTSCH?

German is a language offered to freshman and sophomore students entering Marcus High School as an elective. German I is designed to teach the sound system, pattern of intonation, and basic speech patterns. It is set up basically for simple reading and writing. German II is a more advanced stage than German I. Speaking, reading, and writing are included in this course. In German, the student not only learns to speak the language, but also learns the culture and history of the country which they are studying. German I and II is taught by Fraulein Schultz. This is her first year as a teacher at Marcus. Thanks to the teachers like Fraulein Schultz, students can learn about other countries without leaving their own.

¿HABLE EL ESPANOL?

Spanish offers a wide variety of weekly activities; such as films, tapes, and movies. There are Spanish games to play, like Monopoly, Scrabble, and Loteria. Spanish also provides cultural experiences in food and crafts.

This class does more than enhance your Spanish vocabulary. It can help you with sentence pattern recognition and parts of speech in English. Surprisingly, there are several words of Spanish origin in the English language.

Ms. Childress and Ms. Haygood sponsor an exchange student program with Collegico Karl C. Parrish in Barranquilla, Columbia. Twice during the school year a group of Marcus students travel to Columbia on this program. You do not have to be in Spanish to be an exchange student.

Spanish is much more than learning another language. It is studying about another country's culture. It is an elective course, although two years of a language is required by most colleges.

MUSIC FILLS THE HALLS

The Marcus music department consists of the Choral and Band programs. The Choral program is directed by Mr. Eddie Ranne. Acceptance into th choir is by audition only, and based on the projection and quality of the applicant. That person is then placed in the choir that he is best suited for.

The Choir competes in many activities throughout the school year. Some of these include; UIL, Choir concerts, contests, and many more.

The bands are directed by Steve White and Mr. Steve Siebert. By auditioning, a person may be placed in the band that they are best suited for. Her they can perfect their talent and strengthen their skills. Along with many other events, the band competes in UIL, performs band concerts, marches football games, and many more.

Both the Choir and the Band programs are truly dedicated to their organizations.

SELF-CONFIDENCE EXUDES IN DEBATE AND SPEECH

Debate and Speech are electives not to be taken lightly. In order to excel in Debate and Speech a student must be able to speak clearly and research for hours, not to mention the ability to reason logically and a degree of self-confidence. Furthermore, when a student takes either Speech or Debate, these skills — useful later in life — are more thoroughly developed.

Most Debaters at Marcus begin competition debating towards the beginning of their second year, while Speech students are able to start competition during their first year. Some special events occurring in Debate are U.I.L. competition, the annual Mock Trial, and a fund raiser to send Debaters to a summer Debate Camp. Speech students also attend U.I.L. competition.

In charge of these two classes is Mrs. Tillotson, who has been teaching at Marcus for the last four years. She teaches both freshman and sophomore Debate and Speech classes, plus Theater Arts classes. Ms. Erback teaches four classes of drama.

Most students will find both Debate and Speech thoroughly rewarding, even with all the work involved. So it is easy to see how Speech and Debate are not electives to be taken lightly.

AG CLASSES HAVE HIGH STANDARDS

The Marcus High School's Ag. class holds high standards for each and every one of its students. This course is an elective, but it requires a high level of self discipline, drive, determination, and the desire to want to work. Some of the most positive things that can be said about these students is the fact that they don't give up. These students strive to get better in this class, because they enjoy Ag.

Mr. Nobles said he thought that every student should take at least one year of Ag. sometime in their high school years. He also said that he is glad that not everyone at Marcus does take a year of Ag. because of the number of students at Marcus. Mr. Nobles said that not only do these students learn about livestock, but also they learn how to work with wood, welding, and other useful skills.

The Vocational Ag. students are in FFA also, therefore, they have the same sales as the FFA; sausage sales, spring stock sales, and fruit sales.

The Ag. classes go to contests every year in which they judge hay and soil. If these students place high, they can receive trophies or some other form of an award.

This class is not only going to the Ag. barn and taking care of their animals, it also has quite a bit of class work as well. Don't think that just because someone you may know is in Ag. that they have a "blow-off" class, because you're wrong. These kids work just as hard if not harder than a lot of other students in this school.

DIFFERENT MEDIAS AND TEXTURES USED IN ART

The Art department is divided into two classes: Art I and Art II. There is also the crafts half of this department for which there is only one class. Both of hese courses are elected for the year. Mr. Orr, the Art I and Art II teacher, enjoys working with several types of media and tries to convey the importance f using different medias and textures in the art process.

The media he uses includes sketching with a pencil to paper maché and from contour lines with a pen to molding clay into works of art. In this class a stu- ent must draw several pictures in the various media on the subject being studied during a particular six weeks.

Crafts teachers are Mr. Foil and Mr. Adair.

SPONSOR PUSHES FOR PERFECTION

We on the annual/newspaper staff would like to express our special thanks to Ms. Clark, sponsor of the journalism staff.

We all appreciate the special care and attention that is given to us by Ms. Clark. This is Ms. Clark's first year to teach at Marcus. At one time she wrote a column for a professional newspaper. She has been teaching at various schools for twenty-one years. Last year she taught for a school in a foreign country.

Ms. Clrke gave each of us on the staff special recognition. She pushed everyone so that we all used our full potential at one time, but none of us worked as diligently as Ms. Clark did throughout the year.

We thank you Ms. Clark for your special care and concern you have shown us. We are grateful for all you have taught us and given to us.

ATTENDANCE OFFICE BECOMES VITAL NECESSITY

In case you haven't noticed, a separate attendance office has been added at Marcus High. The reason for this is simply because there are too many tudents in this school for it to be located in the Main Office.

Three very busy ladies run this office, assisted by two or three students each period.

Ruth Adkisson, a four-year attendance veteran, compiles and records all attendance records, and puts them into the computer. She also keeps track of he new students, student withdrawals, and out of class for extra-curricular activities.

Ginger Boyd and Cindy Crouch also work in the attendance office. These two ladies stamp notes, call parents, refer students to principals, and keep rack of all absences.

It is easy to see how keeping up with more than two thousand students makes the new attendance office a very necessary part of Marcus.

Sophomore Leaders Cheer on Class

As the sophomore class moves on to new places and heights of wonder, we will remember the "way we were" during o sophomore year.

One part of our year that stands out in our minds is our sophomore class officers. The president was Patricia Zehentma secretary, Katherine Coil and the vice-president was Laci Williams. They have served us well at Marcus High School.

We all have doubts as we move on. What will be? Who will succeed? The second year at Marcus has proved to be both crowded one as we made room for the freshmen, but an exciting one as we made a place for ourselves. As the Class of '87, will overcome our weaknesses and we will strive for perfection in everything we do, knowing that we've been given many o portunities to excel. If we keep these thoughts in mind, nothing will bring us down.

Coach is Ms. Tillotson.

A major event taking place in Debate is the annual Mock Trial. Each year a Debate student is chosen secretly to commit a mock crime. In past years a principal and several students have been shot and killed with water pistols, and one students was even abducted. After the crime has taken place a mock arrest is made of one or more suspects. A defense is picked by the suspect and a prosecution team is appointed by the teacher. A jury is picked from another class and a judge is appointed. A bailiff and a stenographer are also chosen from the Debate class. When the actual trial takes place no deviations from the course of a real trial are made. When the jury finally reaches a verdict and the trial is over, all secrets are disclosed and everyone has a good laugh, as well as a good experience.

Pan American Student Forum (PASF) is a youth organization which began in 1927 as a national organization and became statewide in 1943. Its purpose then, as now, is to offer students and teachers a better opportunity to learn more about the Americas and to foster cordial relationships among the peoples of those two lands.

It encourages respect for all nationalities. It encourages the learning of Spanish as a medium of communication, and it serves as an example of how individuals of different ancestry can work together.

There are 64 charter members of the Marcus PASF. Activities included monthly meetings, a Christmas fiesta and preparations for members attendance to the State Convention in San Antonio.

President is Shannon Brown, Vice-Pres. Ravi Amin, Rec. Sec., Amy Lichty, Reporter, Rene Ridinger, and sponsors, Ms. Ramirez, Ms. Wilson, Mr. Brower, Ms. Thomas and Ms. Tekell.

The French club is an organization fit for those who wish to learn more about France and its language. This club was organized by Madame Bell and Madame Moore to increase the students' interest in French culture.

A dinner at a French restaurant was planned for the 50 members, plus a day at a French movie. There also was a contest held at North Texas State University for those who wished to compete against other schools for prizes.

Le Cercle francais is the title of this club which allows only French one and French two students to join. The meetings are held once a month in Madame Bell's room before school from 8:00 to 8:45.

Anthony Brown and Rickey Mateus working hard.

One might say that I.A. is when arts and technology come together. A program such as this offers boundless options for applying technology for the basic needs, entertainments, and desires of human beings.

The club has its own motto: "Learning to live in a technical world." It has its own code of ethics and its own emblem. The club frequently visits local industries to learn about the industrial world.

The club officers are as follows:
Pres. Candi Smith
V.P. Chris Dickey
Sec. Kristal Hodge
Treas. Kevin Monk
S. at Arms Ted Brown
Rep. George Reagan
Club Sweetheart Kristal Hodge

Teachers who sponsor the club are Mr. Sweat, Mr. Daves, and Mr. Foil.

Math Club Grows . . . In Many Ways

This year's Math Club has grown both in members and in achievements. It is a combination of last year's membership and the incoming freshmen. This has made more categories available for competition and more competitions to attend. The club has initiated a fund drive for a major mathematic fraternity. The third year for the club is showing a great deal of promise. Sponsors are Mr. Cardwell and Ms. Brown.

Chuck Webb, Rex Moss, Ravi Amin

The National Honor Society is an organization of students who not only have superior grade averages, but also courage, leadership, honor, and citizenship. This organization contributes to many of the school's activities and functions. Thanks to the long and endeavoring hours of Ms. Hill, the Honor Society's sponsor, one can look back on this group and remember them "the way they were."

The golf team, led by Coach Winnett, is one of the hardest working and dedicated groups at Marcus. They go out everyday after 5th period during school, to work on their game, sometimes staying as late as 6:00 or 7:00. They practice at Oakridge golf course everyday that is possible to play. Coach Winnett, an excellent golfer himself, helps these 12 golfers anyway he can. The team is a mixture of sophomores and freshmen. Each individual supplies his own gear. Brad Ott, one of the best players on the team has been known to shoot par and under, on some of his good days. All of the teams' tournaments take all day and some even take a weekend out of town, but that shows the dedication of all these people to their sport.

Swim Team Completes Fourth Winning Year

Ends With 7-0 Season

Bo Weygant pulls ahead of the competition in the third leg of the Medley Relay

Spirit leaders and captains lead team in school chants to lead Marcus to ranking positions in both boys' and girls' divisions.

Paul Falkenhagen and David Fisher warm-up for the Lewisville Invitational Swim meet.

This is the Marcus Swim team's fourth year in a row of outstanding meet competitions. This year the teams averaged a 7-0 for the season.

This was the first year that the team attended several "fast meets" like the Lewisville Invitational and the Trinity Invitational. The Marcus divers also did well in competition. As Coach Lowery put it, "They've done very well this year and have a lot to be proud of."

BAND

SOME OF THE MEMORIES WE SHARED

The Marcus Marauder bands have particiapted in many activities throughout the school year. Although many of the marching games were rained out, it didn't seem to soil the spirit of anyone. The band worked hard as a team all year to achieve its many goals and its prize-winning halftime shows. One can say that being in the band is an experience, and a memory that one will cherish for a lifetime.

Jerry Williams, Andre Phelps, Michael Prack

Marcus shows its spirit in many ways. Students and teachers alike showed their spirit by wearing the bright reds and greens of the holiday.

Students were seen in every hall toting shopping bags, loaded with presents, while pictures were being made with Santa in the library. The Marcus Choir gave a special Christmas performance, singing some favorite carols. The Engish Department showed its spirit decorating the front display case with Christmas Greetings, and poems. Several organization actions held Christmas bake sales, and everyone at Marcus showed their Christmas spirits by contributing canned goods in the annual food drive. All in all the Christmas spirits at Marcus was quoted, "OUTSTANDING!!"

HALLOWEEN CREEPS INTO

Halloween is the time of year when spooky faces come out of hiding. Most of the students went to parties, but a few insisted on going trick-or-treating. Halloween costumes correlated with Spirit Day and everyone had a great time.

VARSITY SPARKS SPIRIT DAYS

SPIRIT DAYS

The 1984-85 school year was kept well alive with soaring spirit from different groups and organizations. There were the cheerleaders, drill team, band, and flag corps who put in many hours of extra work. Together with the student body it was most successful. Many took part in this regular event by wearing certain outfits such as Hawaiians, Nerds, and such. The great fifties was brought back when we showed out spirit by dressing from the 50's and having Mr. Mosley and Mr. Orr perform as the well known Everly Brothers, singing Bird Dog!

ANNIE

Annie was the official musical for the 84-85 school year. Annie was sponsored and directed by Ms. Tillitson. The student director was Liz Miller.

Tryouts were held in October. Out of the 90 students at tryouts, 28 very talented students made parts.

The musical was held on December 14 aznd 15 in the Marcus cafeteria. Special thanks go Ms. Erback and her students for make-up and props. Also, thanks go to Ms. Franz for playing piano.

STUDENTS SHARE EXPERIENCES

On an early Saturday morning on Oct. 6th, 1984, Tonia Zimmerer, Dina Wetzel, and Marc Kantz, with Ms. Childress, sponsor and Marcus librarian, departed from DFW Airport for Barranquilla, Columbia.

The students attended a private American school for a 6 week period. They had been chosen the year before from a large group of applicants.

While Felix was here, he is said to have stated that he'd made many new friends. We also were fortunate for the experience.

Pictures below are exchange students in Columbia. While there was a lot of work for students on both ends, there was also a time for fun.

The journalism staff at Marcus High has worked very hard all year to bring you the very best possible publications that it n. This is the first year that there has been a class that deals exclusively with the newspaper and the annual. The SILVER ULLETIN was printed by Ms. Gatlin's Office Duplicating class. All other work was done by the staff. Eight volumes were ublished and distribution rose with each issue. The Annual was created by the same staff. It is hoped that everyone will en- y remembering "The Way We Were."

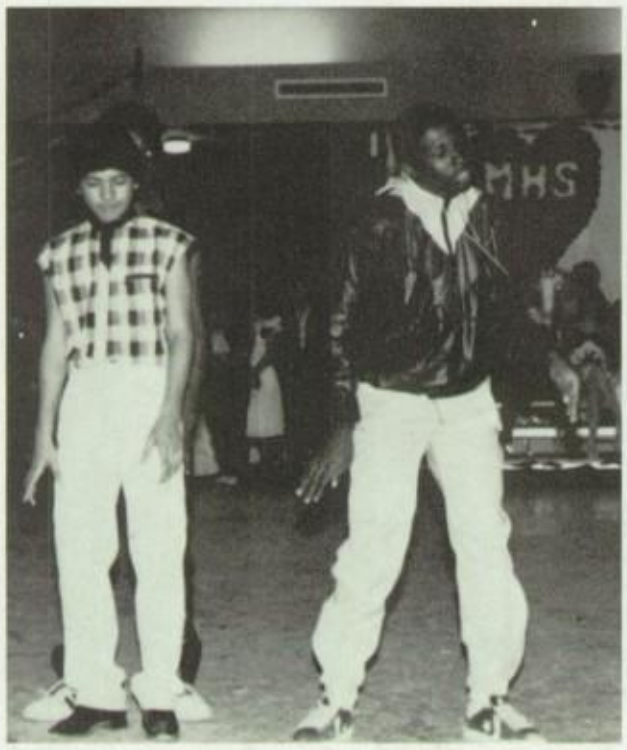
SPRING DANCE



The Student Council took great pride in sponsoring the well-planned spring dance. It was held the fifteenth day of February in the MHS cafeteria. There were a variety of activities ranging from Breakdancers to the annoucement of the Royal Court. The dance, as in the past, proved to be quite successful.

Principals' Work Never Ends

Ms. Jill Spanheimer

Mr. Clint Mosely

Ms. Jill Spanheimer is in her first year at Marcus after two years at LHS preceded by seven years teaching. She received her degrees from Florida State and is now working on her doctorate.

Spanheimer stated that her job was to be a friend to students and teachers and to help them with their problems, large and small. She looks forward to Marcus becoming a four-year high school.

Mr. Clint Mosely was an assistant principal at Hedrick and a teacher at Marcus before he became an assistant principal last fall.

His duties include school ID's, parking permits, discipline, and school functions. He says he particularly enjoys the new facility at Marcus, the staff and the students. He stated that this was a "loyalty school" and he liked the atmosphere.

Dr. Vic Rucker

Mr. Gary Stalcup

Dr. Rucker was the athletic director at North West High School before joining the staff at Marcus this year.

His duties as assistant principal include building maintenance, Drivers' Ed coordinator, duty stations, activities calendar and discipline.

He stated that he came to Marcus because of the principals, the positive teaching staff and a fine group of students.

Before coming to Marcus, Mr. Stalcup was principal at Mildred High School, was at Delay and taught in Abernathy. He was graduated from Oklahoma Southwestern State and received his master's from Texas Tech.

Mr. Stalcup's duties include buses, discipline and observations. When asked why he chose Marcus and how he felt about it, he replied, "We have a great school because we have great students."

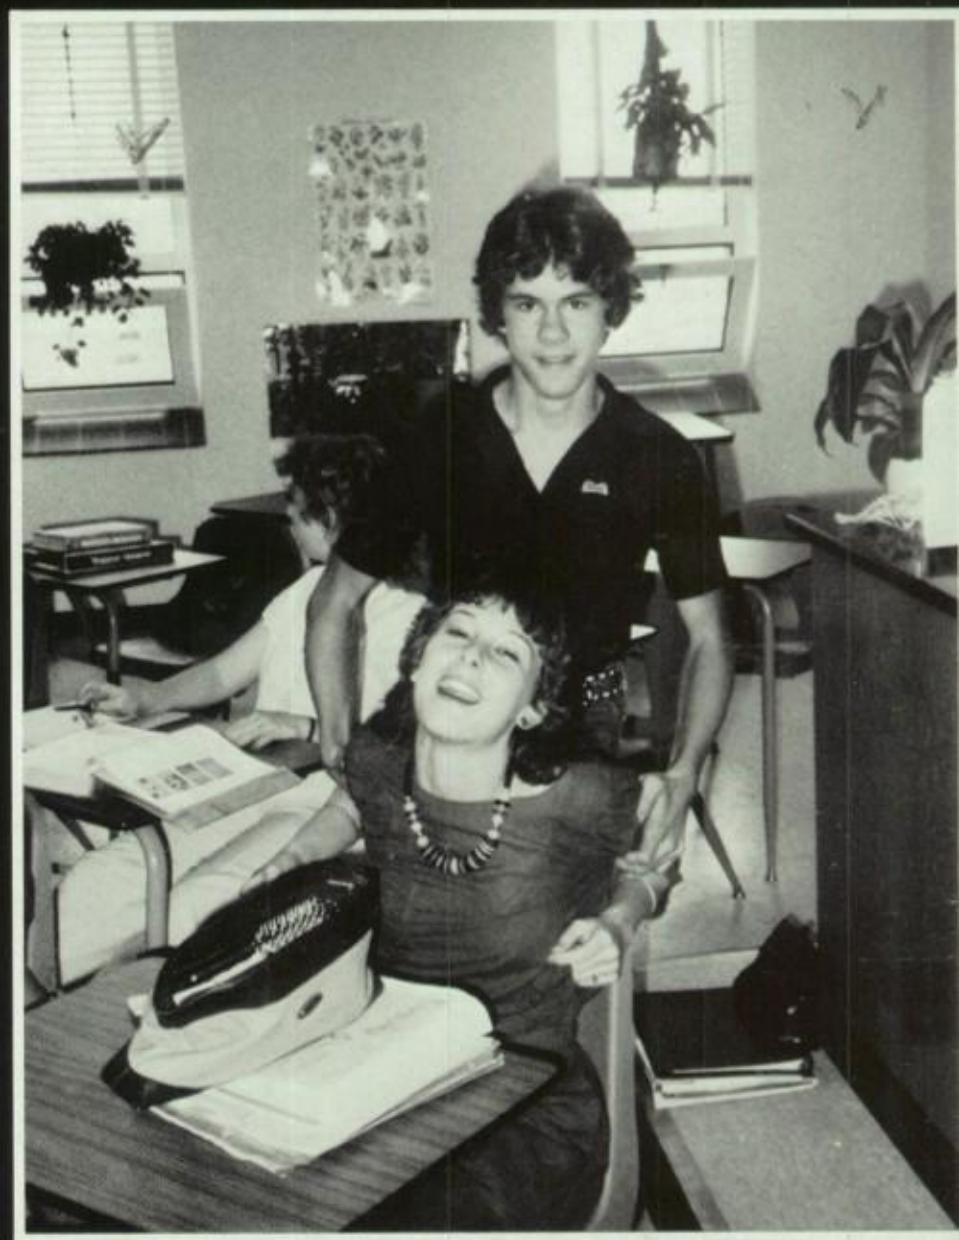
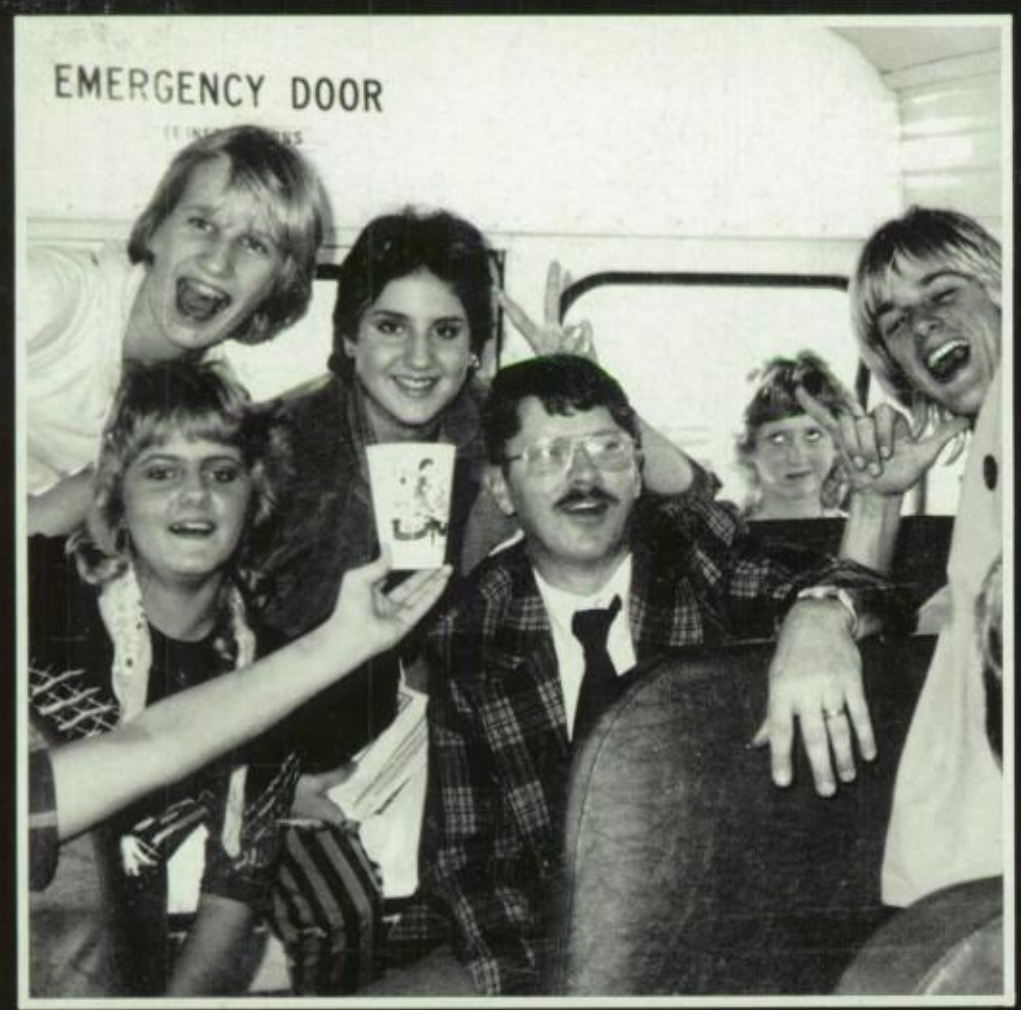
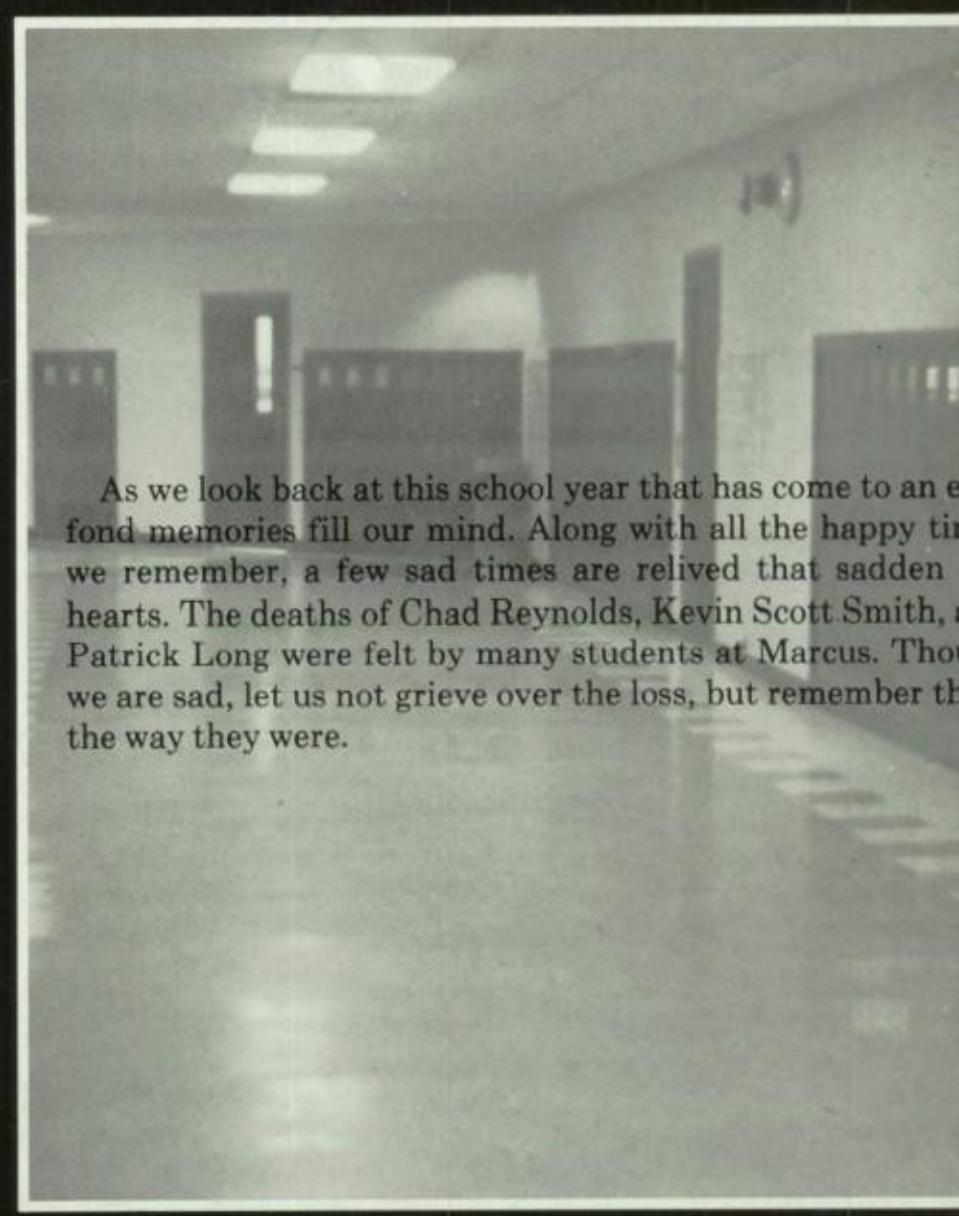
The Way We Were . . .







As we look back at this school year that has come to an e fond memories fill our mind. Along with all the happy ti we remember, a few sad times are relived that sadden hearts. The deaths of Chad Reynolds, Kevin Scott Smith, Patrick Long were felt by many students at Marcus. Thou we are sad, let us not grieve over the loss, but remember th the way they were.

~~Dear~~ Cheri, I'm happy that we could be friends. I hope that you get all that you want out of life and stay the same as you are. Stay Cool.

Love Always

Beauty belongs to youth, but the youth whom this earth was made is naught but a dream whose sweetness is enslaved to a blindness that renders its awareness too late. Will ever the day come when the wise will band together the sweet dreams of youth and the joy of knowledge? . . . Youth's purpose of joy — capable in its ecstasy and mild in its responsibility — cannot seek fulfillment until knowledge heralds the dawn of that day.

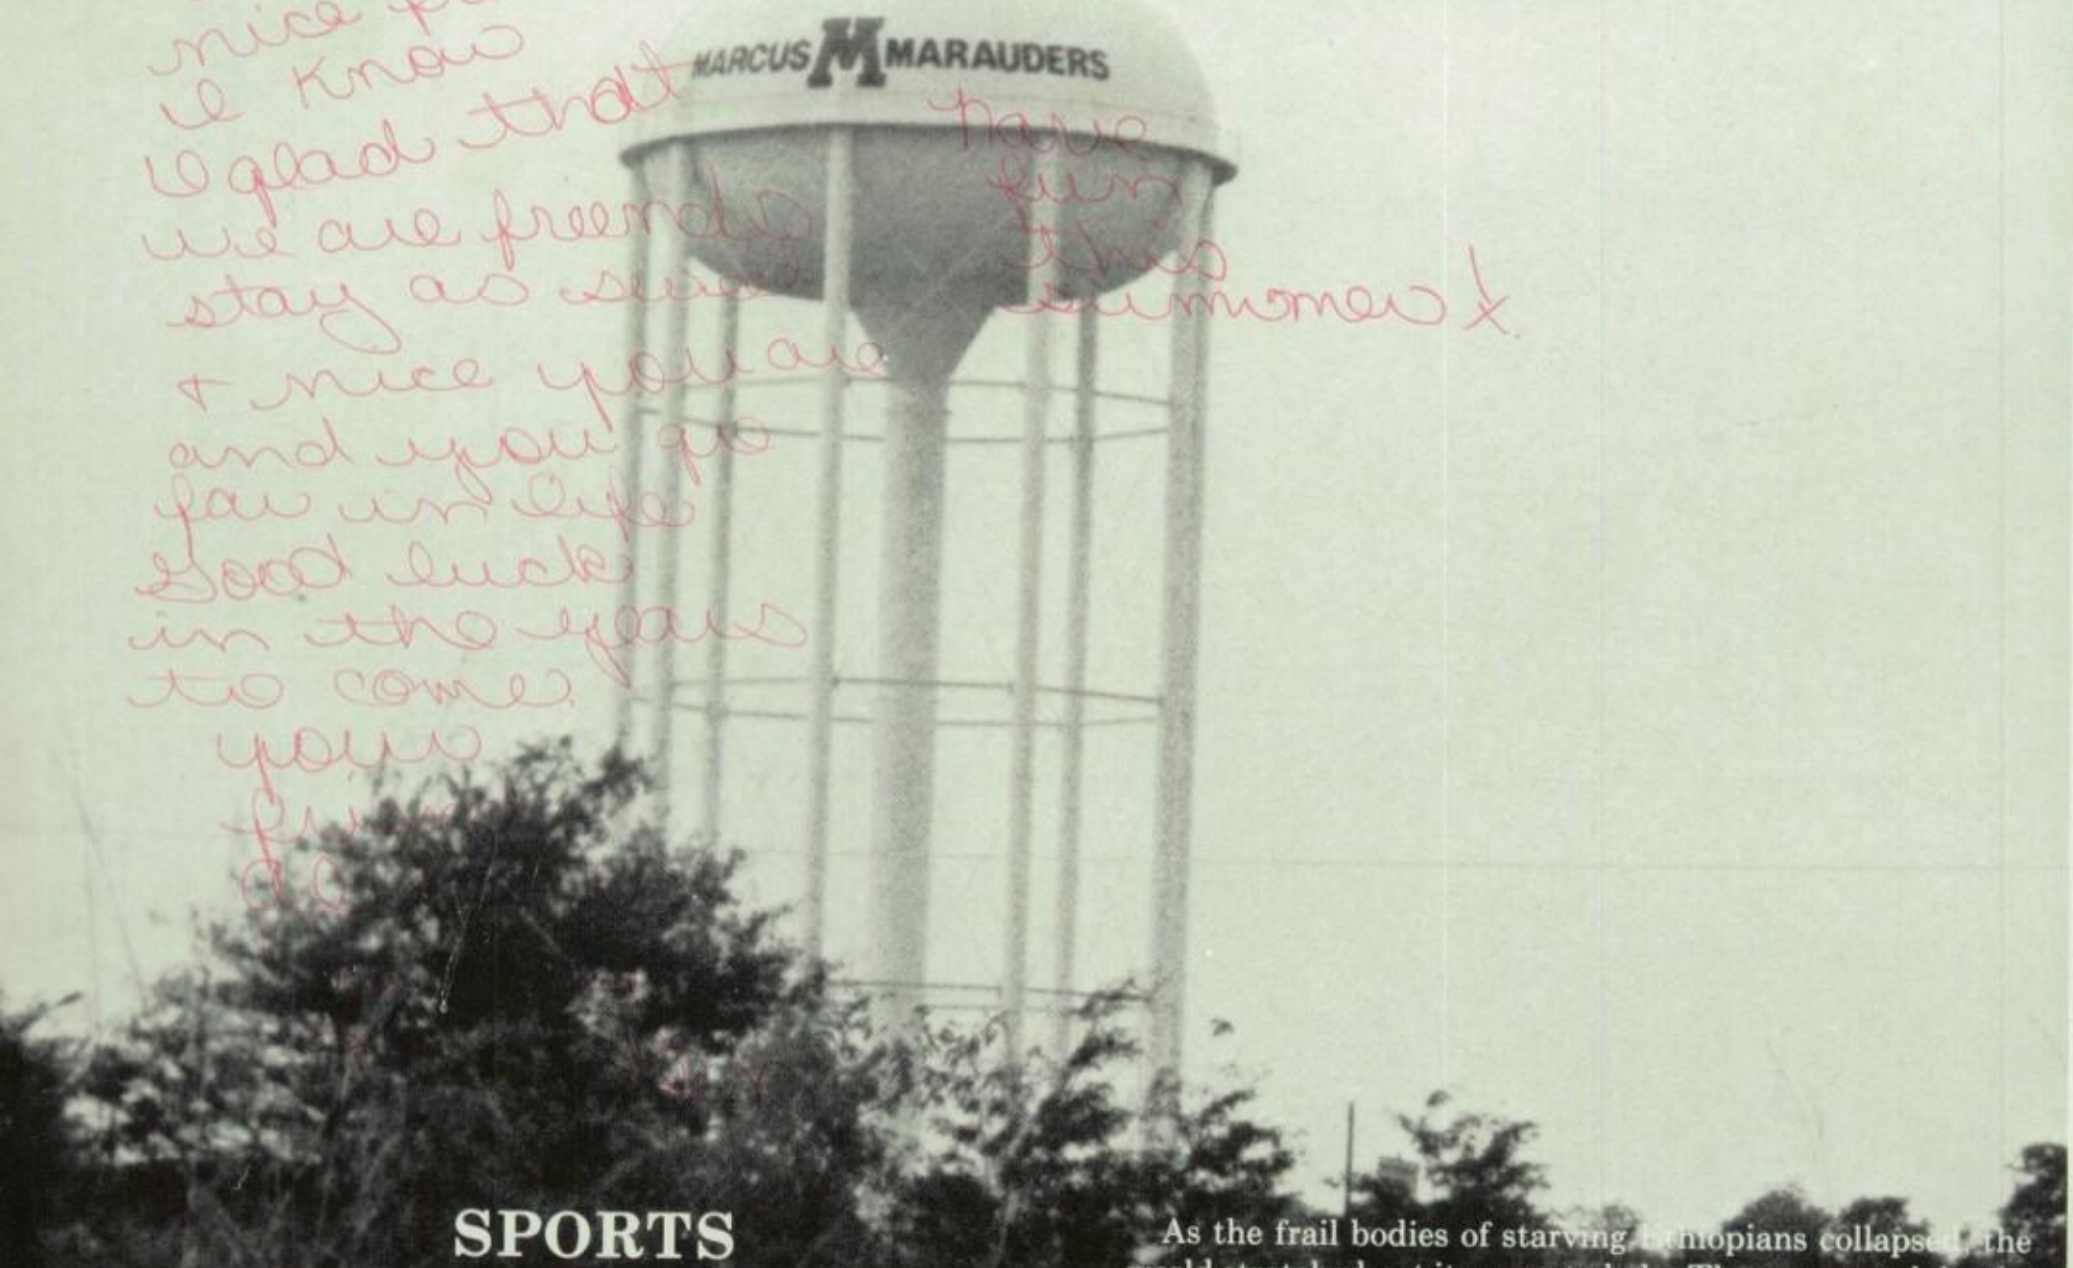
YEAR IN REVIEW



SPORTS

Around the world in 1984, the XXIII Olympic Games held the world's attention. The Americans showed their spirit by bringing home 83 gold medals. Among the standouts were the exhilirating Mary Lou Retton, super-sprinter Carl Lewis, and the captivating men's gymnastic team, as well as the disheartening collision that cut Mary Decker's possible gold medal. Whatever the event, the world held its breath as America's heroes stole the show.

Boston College's man with the golden arm, Doug Flutie, won the Heisman Trophy as well as the game against Miami in which he threw a 48 yard Hail Mary pass. He signed with the USFL New Jersey Generals.

Super Bowl XIX, resulted in a San Francisco 49'ers win over the Miami Dolphins.

The Cubs narrowly missed their first chance in 39 years to get in the world series. The Detroit Tigers won the series over the San Diego Padres.

INTERNATIONAL

Limits of the U.S.'s power were suggested with the final withdrawal of US Marine peacekeeping force — while deaths continued to climb in the border war between Iraq and Lebanon.

India's bond of unity thinned as the cremation of the assassinated Indira Ghandi began. India suffered additional disaster with the Union Carbide explosion in Bhopal.

As the frail bodies of starving Ethiopians collapsed, the world stretched out its arms to help. The uncounted deaths of famine and drought were constant reminders of the 20 million starving.

In Moscow, Yuri Andropov's death raised even more questions about the secretive Russia. Chernenko succeeded Andropov, but his health was also a guarded secret.

SCIENCE AND MEDICINE

Two-week old Baby Fae was given 32 more days of life with a transplanted baboon heart, and won the nation's heart as she lost her fight for life.

William Schoeder became the second man to receive an artificial heart.

POLITICS

With the 49 state re-election of Ronald Reagan, Walter Mondale and his running mate, the first woman nominee for vice-president, Geraldine Ferraro, threw in the towel.

NEWSMAKERS

With a $90 million gross, singer Michael Jackson rose to the top with his exploding "Victory Tour."

Princess Diana gave birth to Prince Harry on Sept. 18, 1984.

Clara Peller's "Where's the beef?" swept the nation.

Man of the Year was Peter Ueberoth, Olympic organizer.

ACSDC

Dear Sir,

Please find enclosed my application for the post of Assistant Professor in the Department of Physics, which was advertised in the Hindu dated 12th March 1969.

I have a Master's degree in Physics from Delhi University and have been working as a Lecturer in Physics at Hindu College, Delhi, for the last three years. I am confident that my qualifications and experience make me suitable for the post.

I shall be grateful if you will consider my application and call me for an interview at your convenience.

Yours faithfully,

Ramesh Chandra Gupta
